How will my company and our employees benefit from using CityPointe?

Real Estate Services

Buying and selling homes can be one of the biggest challenges of the relocation process (not to mention the most expensive). Through CityPointe, your employees will have access to a national network of real estate professionals to assist them with their existing home sale and the purchase of a new residence. This can minimize one of the most stressful parts of relocation and allow your employees to focus on their new position.

Temporary Housing

CityPointe can provide temporary housing quarters that suit the unique needs and lifestyles of your employees and their families. We can supply short term solutions, as well as cost effective options.

Destination Information

CityPointe will turn a potentially stressful situation into a well orchestrated experience that will help your employees settle into their new homes faster and get back to work faster.
